Photoproject Stranger in Voorschoten

Short introduction

Men should aspect that during 2018 the view on strangers has a more balanced nuance. During the past centuries the Netherlands were known as save harbor for strangers from all over Europe. The agenda of the past few years contains only the refugees. It even seems that there is only room fort wo sides; you're against it or you're not. Unfortunately the reality is far more complex. And above it loses sight on the person behind the stranger. As we know not one single person is the same.

With this photoproject we don't aspect to solve the bigger issues in life. But we can choose a different and more positive point of view. We want to show what makes people happy about the Netherlands. It simply takes us back to the question:

"what typical Dutch thing makes you happy"

I would like to make a picture of you in the place where you feel comfortable in Voorschoten. This makes that the photo will get a personal touch. Something that you show to others. Luckily your not alone in this, because others show something of themeselves too.

The only two conditions to be a part of the project:

- You live in Voorschoten
- You're not born in the Netherlands.
